HISTORY NEWSLETTER

No. 48 1962-1963

The Department of History presents its annual bulletin of items concerning the scholarly and professional activities of faculty, graduates, and graduate students.

The Faculty

Professor Allan G. Bogue, Chairman of the Department, is serving as Vice-President of the Agricultural History Society and as Chairman of the Nominating Committee and as a member of the Program Committee of the Mississippi Valley Historical Association. He has contributed an editorial introduction and two articles, "The Iowa Claims Clubs: Symbol and Substance," and (with Margaret B. Bogue) "Profits and the Frontier Land Speculator," to The Public Lands: Studies in the History of the Public Domain (Madison, 1962), edited by Vernon Carstensen. Ph.D. 1936. He read a paper, "New Trends in the History of the American Middle Period," at the ISEA convention in Des Moines in October. His article, "Farming in the Prairie Peninsula, 1830-1870," is to appear in the March issue of the Journal of Economic History.

Professor Ulrich Trumpener has published a book review and an article, "Turkey's Entry into World War I: An Assessment of Responsibilities," in the Journal of Modern History. A second book review is to appear in the same journal.

Professor Alan B. Spitzer is this year serving as Visiting Professor at Stanford University. He read a paper on Fernand Pelloutier at the meeting of the American Historical Association in December, and he has published book reviews in the American Historical Review.

Visiting Professor Frederick A. de Luna, Ph.D. 1962, has been offering courses in Modern European and French history in the Department this year during Professor Spitzer's absence. He has accepted an appointment as Assistant Professor at the University of Alberta, Edmonton, beginning in September, 1963.

Professor William O. Aydelotte has published "The Business Interests of the Gentry in the Parliament of 1841-47," printed as an appendix to G. Kitson Clark, The Making of Victorian England (London, 1962); "Academic Freedom and Tenure: The George Washington University" (with Walter P. Metzger and Clarence Morris), in the AAUP Bulletin; "Notes on the Problem of Historical Generalization," in Generalization in the Writing of History (Chicago, 1963), edited by Louis Gottschalk; and "Voting Patterns in the British House of Commons in the 1840's," in Comparative Studies in Society and History. He is serving his final year as President of the Midwest Conference of British Historical Studies and has become a member of the Dissertation Fellowship Committee (History) of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation.

Professor Christopher Lasch has published three articles: "American Intervention in Siberia: A Reinterpretation," in Political Science Quarterly; "The Historian as Diplomat," in Nation; and (with William R. Taylor) "Two Kindred Spirits: Sorority and Family in New England, 1839-1846," in New England Quarterly. His book, The American Liberals and the Russian Revolution (New York, 1962), has been published by Columbia University Press.

Professor W. Ross Livingston has been granted a leave of absence to serve this year as Visiting Professor of History, Wake Forest College, Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

Professor Hsin-pao Chang spent the summer of 1962 in England conducting research on the latter stages of the Opium War. The project was made possible mainly by a summer research grant from the Graduate College. While in Europe he attended the Seventh Anglo-American Conference of Historians (July 9-14) sponsored by the Institute of Historical Research, University of London, and the Fourteenth Conference of Junior Sinologists (August 15-21) in Holland. In October he presented a paper, "Recently Discovered Documents on Modern Chinese History," at the annual meeting of the Midwest Conference on Asian Affairs in St. Louis. He has written a review for the Journal of Asian Studies and twelve abstracts for Volume V of the Revue bibliographique de Sinologie.

Professor Patrick L. Alston has published the second volume of a handbook, Some Fundamental Trends of Western Civilization from the French Revolution to the Present. He is completing work on a manuscript for a book, Education Against Revolution in Czarist Russia, and he received an Old Gold Fellowship Grant for this summer to continue his research on the problem of education, bureaucracy, and revolution in the Russian empire.

Professor William J. Petersen has received the Award of Merit given by the American Association for State and Local History, for the publication of The Pageant of the Press, A Survey of 125 Years of Iowa Journalism, 1836-1961. He has edited the facsimile edition of The Iowa State Almanac and Statistical Register, issued as a supplement of The Palimpsest. He will conduct the seventeenth annual Mississippi River cruise of the State Historical Society of Iowa this summer.

Professor Robert M. Kingdon has edited (with J.-F. Bergier) Registres de la Compagnie des Pasteurs de Genève au temps de Calvin, Volume II (Geneva, 1962), and published an article, "Genève et les réformés français; le cas d'Hugues Sureau, dit Du Rosier," in Bulletin, Société d'histoire et d'archéologie de Genève. He has published reviews in American Historical Review, Bibliothèque d'Humanisme et Renaissance, and Church History. He read a paper on "Some Political Implications of Debates on French Reformed Church Organization, 1562-1574," at the Pacific Coast Branch of the American Historical Association at Los Angeles in August, and he also read revised versions of this paper at the Iowa State College History Teachers meeting in Cedar Rapids in December and the Calvin Theological Seminary in Grand Rapids, in March. In April he read a paper entitled "Problems of Religious Choice for Sixteenth-Century Frenchmen," at the Central Renaissance Conference, University of Missouri. He is serving as Secretary-Treasurer of the American Society for Reformation Research and will be a Folger Library Fellow in the summer of 1963. His lecture, "France in Decline and Resurgence: The Period of the Huguenot Wars—Late Sixteenth, Early Seventeenth Centuries," has been recorded for the History of Western Civilization course being prepared by the Institute for University Studies. He represented the State University of Iowa and the Department of History at the inauguration of Walker Wyman, Ph.D. 1935, as President of Whitewater State College, Whitewater, Wisconsin.

Professor Stow Persons is the editor of Social Darwinism: Selected Essays of William Graham Sumner (Englewood Cliffs, N.J., 1963).

Professor Donald W. Sutherland's book, Quo Warranto Proceedings in the Reign of Edward I, 1278-1294, will be published this year by the Clarendon Press. Professor Sutherland read a paper before the Humanities Society of the State University of Iowa in November, on "Law and Liberty: the Medieval English Franchise."

Professor Charles Gibson has published "Consideraciones sobre la etnohistoria," in Estudios americanos, and (with Magnus Mörner) "Diego Muñoz Camargo and the Segregation Policy of the Spanish Crown," in Hispanic American Historical Review. He is Chairman of the Latin American Conference of the American Historical Association and has served during the year as Chairman of the Committee on the Beveridge Award of the American Historical Association. He read a paper on "Colonial Institutions and Contemporary Latin America" at the Chicago meeting of the American Historical Association in December. He has published reviews in Ibero-Americana, American Historical Review, Hispanic American Historical Review, and Handbook of Latin American Studies.

Professor Lawrence Gelfand has joined the Department to offer courses in American History. Professor Gelfand received his B.A. degree from Western Reserve University in 1949, his M.A. from Western Reserve in 1950, and his Ph.D. from the University of Washington, Seattle, in 1958. He has taught at the University of Hawaii (1956-1958), the University of Washington (1958-1959), and the University of Wyoming (1959-1962). He is the author of "Ellen Churchill Semple: Her Geographical Theory of American History," in Journal of Geography, and "A Priority of Values for the State College and University," in The Eleusis of Chi Omega. He has published book reviews in Western Political Quarterly, The Historian, Pacific Northwest Quarterly, and United States Naval Institute Proceedings. His book, The Inquiry—American Preparations for Peace, 1917-1919, will be published this fall by Yale University Press. He is giving a paper this spring at the Social Science Foundation, University of Denver, based on research for his second book, on the American commission to negotiate peace at the Paris Peace Conference, 1919-1920.

Professor Jonathan Goldstein has joined the Department to offer courses in Ancient History. Professor Goldstein received his B.A. degree from Harvard University in 1950, his M.A. from Harvard in 1951, and his Ph.D. from Columbia University in 1959. From 1960 to 1962 he taught at Columbia. He is the author of a book review in the Journal of the American Oriental Society, and his dissertation, The Letters of Demosthenes, is to go to press this year.
