

Tapestry

Perry Miller

Perry Miller, Ron Porter, & Mary Cohen

Em Bm Am 3 C D C

1. On the day we were born cosmic fibers were spun in to thread, before we were
 2. As time passed us by the world's shuttle made pass after pass adding each
 3. Year after year this fine artistry kept spinning on replacing each
 4. At the end of our lives when the tapestry's story's complete, we'll display it for the

4 Am Em D Em

carried back home from our hospital bed, wound on the spools which support thread to the one that was added on last, creating a fabric with a skein as thread got used up and was gone. The colors once bright started children of children that we'll never meet, and we'll hope that it adds to the

7 Am 3 Am/B Em/B Am 3 G

ply life's perpetual loom, added to fibers brought story of life all its own, replenished by seeds for the dwelling and fraying with age; still the loom carried on and recyone that they're working on then. So the cycle continues through the

10 D Am B(sus4) Emorus: 3 3 3 D forth from our dear mother's womb. Day after day we keep weaving the tapestry of our future that are constantly sown.

 corded each act on life's stage.
 end and starts over again.

14 Em Am D7 Em

lives assisted by our children our good friends, our lovers or wives

19 C G 3 3 D

created from the threads of the moments that make up our days,

23 Em D Em

gathered from the high ways and the by-ways and the lesser known ways.